Vermont Army National Guard Environmental Policy Statement

The Vermont Army National Guard provides combat ready forces responsive to the needs of the Community, State, and Nation. These forces are trained to protect life and property, preserve peace, order, and public safety and provide combat support in times of National emergencies.

In support of its mission, the Vermont Army National Guard is committed to:

- Maintaining high environmental standards that comply with or exceed all applicable Federal, State, and local legal requirements and other applicable requirements, such as military policies, procedures, and regulations;
- Performing as an environmentally responsible neighbor in the communities where we operate;
- Health, safety, and environmental measures as integral components of our performance-based culture and business strategies;
- Continual improvement, achieved through leadership and personal responsibility, effective training, and communication; and,
- Pollution Prevention, as an integral component in managing our environmental impacts.

The Vermont Army National Guard is dedicated to establishing and maintaining an environmental management program appropriate to the mission of the Guard in its nature, scale, and environmental impacts. Optimum pollution prevention and regulatory compliance will be achieved through the development, monitoring, and measurement of objectives and targets with an emphasis on continual improvement.
